TESTIMONIAL

Insight's entire business model evolves around home performance, efficiency, and a healthy indoor environment. We have standardized the high-performance features to be included in all of the homes we build, which allows Insight to make purchasing decisions on large-volume orders instead of individual home selections. This allows Insight to order high-performance and typically high-margin products from our vendors, at lower margins; which in turn allows Insight to incorporate the systems in each Insight home more cost-effectively.
